DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) or (e) as being anticipated by Jobi et al (US 6,087,283). Jinbo discloses a thermal treatment apparatus as shown in figure 10. The claimed furnace refractory is deemed as element 407, the claimed stage is deemed as element 408 reciprocating up and down into and out of the furnace 407 as shown in figure 10 by its arrow of motion, the claimed heat generator is deemed as the burner 406, and the claimed driving section is deemed as being an inherent feature in order to move the stage as described in Col. 15, lines 40ff and which is capable of moving the stage to the claimed first and second positions.

As for claim 2, the claimed rotational driving section is deemed as an inherent feature in order to rotate the stage as described in Col. 15, lines 40ff.
